The past and the present are about to collide. Jonathan has been moved into a care home, his mind is deteriorating and reality becoming confused but one memory stays strong - the one memory he wishes to forget. A present is left, a book, a copy of Dickens’ novel The Haunted Man with an inscription from

Jonathan’s past sparking a ghostly visitation, a Phantom offering an irresistible gift - the gift of forgetting.

The true cost of the Phantom’s gift soon shows itself as the book and Jonathan’s life merge.

With the help of the chaotic Tetterbys, the Wild Boy, the Gentle Milly and a host of other Dickensian characters Jonathan sets out to find a genuine, lasting peace and learn the true value of memory and love
